COMMODORE SHOULD WIN HIS RACE; RAIN OR SHINE BEST AT UNION.

Milam Stable May Capture Two Races at the Fair Grounds This Afternoon, While Feature at the New Track Should Go to Three-Year-Old With Weather Bureau Name—Black Art Seems a Winner.

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

Regardless of track conditions, it appears as though the Milam Stable should capture two of the races at the Fair Grounds today, the events in question being the first and fourth.

With Loretta M. in the opening event, the speedy Commodore in the fourth, these races should surely go to the same stable. Loretta will have a hard struggle in the first, and Commodore in the fourth, these four-horse fields, which are so perplexing from the better's standpoint, yet it seems as though each should win.

Dishable and Zinda will give Loretta the most trouble. Yet, on her local performance and her easy victory over Lady Savoy, it seems as though she should turn the trick. Lady Savoy worked over yesterday, over a track that was rather slow, in 1:52. Even admitting that the weight will trouble her, she is not likely to be defeated by Loretta, a victory over the best filly means something.

Loretta M. Dishable and Zinda. That is the way the race should result. Montebank will have a strong following today on the strength of his stake victory of Monday. Yet the colt's best efforts have been in the past, and it is more than likely that he will not be able to do anything better than his previous performance. He is a good horse, but he is not a winner.

In the fifth race an assortment of high weights are presented. Avoid and Debie May, on the strength of their race last Saturday, ought to be the contenders here. The weight will trouble them, but they are not likely to be defeated by Loretta, a victory over the best filly means something.

Jerry Hunt, on his recent races, should win the last. If the track gives him any soft footing whatever, Alice Turner ought to be the favorite. Loretta M. Dishable and Zinda. That is the way the race should result. Montebank will have a strong following today on the strength of his stake victory of Monday. Yet the colt's best efforts have been in the past, and it is more than likely that he will not be able to do anything better than his previous performance. FLYING TORPEDO AN EASY WINNER

THE DON WINS

Daniels' Horse Gallops Over His Field in Handicap at Union Track, Beating Heavily Played Favorite.

Flying Torpedo seems to be rounding into the form he possessed of some time ago. He was not in the feature at the Fair Grounds yesterday. After commencing so slowly as to cause the belief that he was hopelessly out of the race, the Hanover horse came with a rush at the end, which easily brought first money to the Loretta stable.

Over a track which could be variously classed as good, fair or slow, the big horse ran a really creditable race. Commencing with a long, slow stride which left him several lengths behind his trio of opponents in the first quarter, he successfully passed his competitors and came home easily enough, a handy winner.

Charles Thompson, as was expected, found the route just a trifle too far and the track hardly to his liking. He set a vigorous pace out in front, rattled along through the first three-quarters in winning style and then collapsed when the test came.

Victory Night furnished the surprise of the day by coming with a fine rush at the end, which took him past Jack Young and was favorite in this place money. SAY UNION JOCKEY RACING ASSOCIATION IS SOLVENT.

Suit for Appointment of a Receiver Consumes Entire Day in Circuit Court and Case Is Not Concluded.

The suit of John P. Collins for a receiver for the Union Jockey Club Racing Association was on trial in Judge Douglas's court today, and consumed the entire day.

The return of P. J. Carmody, general manager of the association, and other stockholders, who are defendants, was filed yesterday.

It denies that the association is insolvent. It has met all of its obligations, it is said, and the defendant directors are willing to give bond, should the court so require, to guarantee liabilities which will accrue to the association in the present racing season.

The debts of the association comprise a mortgage for $25,000 and unsecured debts not exceeding $3,000. It is alleged that the plant of the association at Union Boulevard and the Natural Bridge road, completed, is said to be worth $25,000, and the improvements cost $12,000.

It is alleged that the association owes $200 to Collins. It was agreed by the defendant and other stockholders to pay to J. P. Martin, a trustee, an amount equal to 20 percent of their stock in pay for the association, should the court so require, to guarantee liabilities which will accrue to the association in the present racing season.

It is alleged that the suit was not influenced by the fact that the association is insolvent. It has met all of its obligations, it is said, and the defendant directors are willing to give bond, should the court so require, to guarantee liabilities which will accrue to the association in the present racing season.
